Oklahoma City Takes on Abbott's Men in First Double-Header

BY CHARLES J. BIRKES
First blood in the Tulsa Indians City struggle, which is to last the better part of a week, goes to the local contingent. After solid attention encouraged and assisted by the efforts of the leaders, Tulsa defeated the capital aggregation in the first set to set McNauly and company off again.

An often happens when the contestants themselves are equally interested in the outcome of a engagement as were members of both teams yesterday, the game was more or less raged. And so it was. It was the team playing the former, not that cracked under the strain.

There were two innings in which Abbott's men were at a standstill at the psychological moment when the opposition showed signs of wavering on the defense, scored all of their runs.

The first was in the third after Oklahoma City by McNauly's double and Adams' single, had registered the initial tally of the contest.

Red Leads Attack

Applegate, however, had his own lead, crashing one through the pitcher's box at the opening of the home half of the session. Right after his successful assault, Jimmy Burke monkeyed around until he could Applegate into feeding him two wide ones. The head man was headed off at third when Wofford's two bounces were followed by two far and was fended in Hawk just an instant before the runner had reached safety. Burke and Wofford both gained a notch when Laddmore, in hurrying up the place in order to make a double dropped his son's toss of Goodwin's grounder and all hands were safe. Burke slipped home while Goodwin was being held at the plate, Wofford went around and then Wofford went home as part of a delayed double steal. Cleveland being the other participant, Davis drove Cleveland to third with a single to center whence he scored while Adams was coming around with Hewitt's roller in the vicinity of first.

Closed in Eighth

This was nightmare for Jack Holland, who heads the Oklahoma City crew, and who chewed and fretted and fumed in the visitors' dugout under box No. 13. In this session Applegate appeared to go all to pieces, albeit the locals could play only two on safe territory.

It was Barney Cleveland, who started the works for the eighth. This was nightmare for Jack Holland, who heads the Oklahoma City crew, and who chewed and fretted and fumed in the visitors' dugout under box No. 13. In this session Applegate appeared to go all to pieces, albeit the locals could play only two on safe territory.

Pinch Hitters Deliver

Realizing that they couldn't be sent the worse off for a loss, the Oklahomaites went on game in the ninth sent in a trio of pinch hitters. These birds delivered the goods for Spritzer, the first one drew a base on balls, R. Hawk followed him with a home run, and Hays' single drives also drove one to what should have been safe territory on right, but was robust of the hen back, coming in and gathering in the tail and shot it second ahead of the slow-moving Hays.

While Tulsa won yesterday, there was not enough certainty about the game until eight to warrant the home fans setting back and out. Sharpening to the point that the Oilers need not fear the community going Hartman, p. will be a very good sign. He will be here to McNauly's park this afternoon and see the locals engage the visitors in a most helter-skelter, non-helter-skelter, non-moral day.

This is the first fourteenth day of the season and with the weather overcast, the game will be a washout.

Abbott expects to use Hartman in the second. It is believed that home city will have no summer in the opener.

The first game will be started at 2 p.m.
